With contributions from a wide range of participants who have played seminal roles as editors of Canadian literatures—from nineteenth-century works to the contemporary avant-garde, from canonized texts to anthologies of so-called minority writers and the oral literatures of the First Nations—this collection is the first of its kind. Contributors offer incisive analyses of the cultural and publishing politics of editorial practices that question inherited paradigms of literary and scholarly values. They examine specific cases of editorial production as well as theoretical considerations of editing that interrogate such key issues as authorial intentionality, textual authority, historical contingencies of textual production, circumstances of publication and reception, the pedagogical uses of edited anthologies, the instrumentality of editorial projects in relation to canon formation and minoritized literatures, and the role of editors as interpreters, enablers, facilitators, and creators. Editing as Cultural Practice in Canada situates editing in the context of the growing number of collaborative projects in which Canadian scholars are engaged, which brings into relief not only those aspects of editorial work that entail collaborating, as it were, with existing texts and documents but also collaboration as a scholarly practice that perforce involves co-editing. " Writing Preparation and Practice3 " is awriting skills textbookdesigned for intermediate and high-intermediate students who are ready to advance beyond paragraph-level pieces. It is intended to build on the fundamentals of paragraph writing that students learned in "Writing Preparation and Practice 1" and "2 "and to give them the confidence they need to write longer pieces. "Writing Preparation and Practice 3 " is based on the premise that because different languages organize information differently, students need to be shown how to organize information in English if they are to write effectively in English. Students also need to understand that good writing is a network of complex skills that can be taught, practiced, and mastered. Features Presentation of the steps of the writing process: "prewriting," "writing," and "revising and editing" Guided practice in each stage of the paragraph writing process, including practice on writing "thesis statements" "Model paragraphs" and "essays/peer-editing worksheets/Web-based exercises" Editing practice in error correction and proofreading Additional individual practice in the skills that students have learned The "Writing Preparation and Practice" series also includes " Writing Preparation and Practice1 "and " Writing Preparation and Practice2. " " Provides a wealth of examples, quotes, and case studies that include an instructional discussion of an editorial collaboration on The Great Gatsby, in an upbeat guide to the mechanics and techniques of self-editing that includes strategic tips and exercises.
